President's Message

Hello, and welcome back to another year!

My name is Al Parise, and I am excited to be serving as your chapter president for the 2024-2025 year!

The chapter board is putting together meetings and events for this period, including the first virtual technical meeting scheduled for October 29 (see additional information on Page 3).

As industries, technology, and regulations continue to evolve, it's important that we continue working together to share knowledge and built our community for the betterment of all.

Additionally, many of us, including several members of our student chapter from Keene State, will be attending the Region 9 Professional Development conference in Springfield, MA on November 5 and 6. I'm hoping to see many of you there!

I'm looking forward to an informative and collaborative year, and can't wait to have all of you along on the journey!

Thank you,
Al Parise, PE, CSP

October 29th Technical Meeting:

ANSI/ASSP Z244.1 The Control of Hazardous Energy Lockout, Tagout and Alternative Methods

Machinery accidents are among the most common severe injury/fatality (SIF) incidents in industry. Z244.1 is the most recognized consensus standard for lockout/tagout when servicing or maintaining equipment. In this session, Peter Noddin will discuss the current 202X proposed revisions to the standard, focusing on differences from the 2016 version. We will also discuss the relationship between this standard and OSHA's Control of Hazardous Energy standard, the well-defined boundary between machine guarding and lockout, as well as applicability and potential pitfalls of alternative procedures.

Peter Noddin, CSP, OHST, has been a Professional Member of ASSE/ASSP since 1996 and has a career spanning nearly 40 years in safety and health. This includes facility safety in forest products manufacturing, as well as nearly 20 years as a consultant. He is a current voting member of the ANSI/ASSP Z244.1 Standard Committee and is often retained as an expert witness in machinery accident, fire/explosion and public safety cases around the country. He currently serves as Health and Safety Manager for Monadnock Paper Mills in Bennington NH.
